malicious laser targeted nature	nature waits during drama scenes	acceptance of obviously inescapable danger	family at home is worried	evil because of accessory / costume change bullshit science terms	obvious main character in first 5 minutes	parent and child are the same age	actors obviously hate their lives	disaster strikes at a festival bad sound effect (2 points for Wilhelm scream)	clichéd music	product placement	5 seconds of screentime/spawnkill (x2 spawn camping)	heavy-handed calm before/during the storm

B	I	N	G	O
killing off extras to keep budget low	karmic death	random famous actor	omnipotent technology/technology does EVERYTHIN G-tricorder effect	costume department had too much fun unnecessary diversity	obviously over-the top numbers	budget ran out before film length reached	oddly convenient prop	writers obviously checked out for the scene heroic sacrifice	obligatory beach scene	tries for a sequel (2 points for actually having a sequel)	misused prop/wtf is this prop	movie could have been over 30 minutes ago malicious laser targeted nature	obvious main character in first 5 minutes	person in charge will doom us all	scientist explains science to someone who can't/doesn't care/understand	common sense from the mouth of babes broken physics	uber religious guy starts freaking out	acceptance of obviously inescapable danger	unsuccessful rule of cool	unnecessary screen time extension (10 minutes minimum)
